RIGHTLY APPRECIATING OUR GOODLY HERITAGE

Ps.16:6 The lines have fallen unto me in pleasant places; yea, I havea goodly heritage.

INTRO. Well may every America citizen say with the psalmist,"The lines have fallen unto me in pleasant places; yea, I have a goodly heritage."

Inclination to hold other than patriotic service. But upon reflection, it convinced me that a proper observance of our Independence Day demandsd more than noise and auto-excursions.

To be deserving of our rich heritage-ours is indeed a rich heritage

A resourceful country
A high ideal of govenrment
A grand and noble history
A constellation of heroic and great-souled men and women.

Only with righteousness and true patriotism can such a heritage as ours be fittingly maintained and enjoyed. Every American citizen should do all in his power to perpetuate the civic, social, economic and religious blessings which are his by birthright, and to hand down to posterity unimpaired those free institutions under which it is his privelege to live.

I. We should love our country with the highest degree of enlightened patriotism.

Love of country should be love of countrymen.

Parable of five men cast upon island.

We should hold such big burly self-satisfied patriotism in profound contempt.

True American patritism must face the race problem. When we face it squarely, we fit ourselves for that larger fellowship with all peoples of the earth,

II. We should reverence the laws of our land.

III. We should exercise the elective franchise which is ours.
We should vote for the best men for office
We should give best thot to all measures that come up for our voting consideratio
Small-town stuff.
Our bootleggers and town officers

III. We, as true citizens, should do all in our powr to elevate the moral character of the people.
Personal living
Personal efforts in cooperation with others
